Profile

Angel Turnomatic from design to delivery, the focus of the Brass Products Division is quality and service. Our Engineering Department develops everything from prototypes, to product modifications, to improvements in design and manufacturing techniques. Utilizing state-of-the-art technologies, our engineers can provide a high level of field support, including custom design work.

Manufacturing and assembly are performed on various types of multi-station automated equipment. In addition, our Short Run Special Manufacturing department can quickly produce small quantities of virtually any custom design.

Quality standards are continually improved through our extensive Special programs covering every phase, from incoming raw materials to machine standards.

We assure that all parts which we supply are totally compatible and interchangeable with the corresponding original part and all critical dimensions and tolerances are in accordance.
